PATTERSON TERM LIMITED AS DMEA FACES CONTESTED ELECTION

By Gail Marvel

MONTROSE-On May 28, the Delta Montrose Electric Association (DMEA) Board of Directors regular meeting was called to order at 3 p.m.

The call to order was followed by the Pledge of Allegiance, determination of a quorum, and approval of the consent agenda (Membership & Meter Report, and Minutes from the April 2024 Regular Meeting). Directors Jock Fleming and Enno Heuscher were absent, all other board members were present in person.

Member Attendance/Introductions

DMEA co-op members are afforded an opportunity to speak during Member Comments, which for this meeting was scheduled for 5 p.m. Those addressing the board were members of the Citizens Climate Lobby (Kent Dolezal, Tony Hoag, and Mary Loncar), as well as Joseph

CDOT MEETING FOCUSED ON FUTURE OF US50 BRIDGE

By Gunnison Clamp

MONTROSE-The Colorado Department of Transportation (CDOT) is hopeful of a best-case scenario on the Highway 50 Bridge between Montrose and Gunnison, as they push for a deadline of reopening it by July 4th to partial traffic.

The DOT held a meeting at the Montrose County Event Center on Thursday, May 23 covering a range of topics on the bridge, from tentative deadlines to the inspection process that revealed the critical issues.

Structural cracks were initially found in April during a federally directed inspection, immediately closing the bridge and leading to widespread uncertainty across the western slope. A detour has since been opened on Gunnison County Road 26, with multiple windows of time every day for traffic to make the trip east, without having to take a detour to I-70 or US 160. The option of using County Road 25 as a separate bypass is also being evaluated.

Present at the meeting were CDOT Executive Director Shoshana Lew, CDOT Region 3 Director Jason Smith, and several other officials including State Representative Marc Catlin.

CORRECTION

Thank you to Dave Klein, Facility Manager for the Bureau of Reclamation at Curecanti, who informs us that dates we gave last week for the testing of all four gates at Morrow Point Dam were not correct. According to Klein, four gates were tested after installation in 1970, and only used in 2014, 2017, and now 2024. "We keep very detailed records," Klein said, noting that no records of all four gates being opened could be found for 1982, although it was a high water year.

If the City Council fails to pass the Non-Sanctuary City resolution, perhaps We the People should put a resolution on the November ballot that would require the City Government to reimburse the School District for the full cost of educating any illegal alien student and REQUIRE the school district to ascertain the legal status of each of their students. Rick Bleier, Montrose

UPDATED GUIDELINES FOR LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Readers:

We appreciate your letters! We like reading and hearing opinions from all perspectives. We are sharing herewith our updated guidelines: In the past we have had one rule, to be implemented at the editor's discretion. We are now including two more suggested "Rules" for letter writers. RULE 1. The Dead Horse Rule has been in place from the start of the Mirror. This is somewhat selfexplanatory, but there are times when something has been said so many times it can run afoul of the "Dead Horse Rule," in which case we will inform the writer.

RULE 2. While there are always exceptions, a letter can often say what needs to be said in one page or less. Our pages are 8.5 X 11, we use a 10 pt Calibri font; letters that are roughly 800 words fit well within this suggested guideline.

RULE 3. Please limit repetitive mud-slinging to avoid bumping up against Rule 1. Also, in the case of those writing to intentionally discredit a public official or candidate for public office, please provide a link to the source of your allegation if possible. Unsourced, unproven allegations are not credible, and could in fact be untruths. Thank you,

VOTE RICK DUNLAP, DISTRICT 3 COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Editor:

Let's talk about a person who has worked for others in the United States Army and in law enforcement for over four decades. A person who has proven himself fiscally responsible, consistent, and dedicated to all Montrose County citizens. This person held tight to his word and did EXACTLY what he said he was going to do as the Montrose County Sheriff, and he did it with honesty and grace.

I think you know who I am referring to now – RICK DUNLAP. You could not ask for better representation as your next County Commissioner in District 3. There have been some folks who have

I am here to tell you, he DID—I was there. I ask you to refer to two articles printed in the Montrose Daily Press dated March 26, 2008; one titled, "County Leadership More Transparent", and the other titled, "County Displays Benefits of Sales Tax" and you will see. Rick utilized those funds to purchase the necessary equipment to bring the Montrose County Sheriff's Office into the technological 21st Century. Rick hired additional deputies to better promote public safety throughout the entirety of Montrose County. Rick procured new vehicles to replace the dated unreliable junk that we were driving every day. Rick instituted the mobile data computer program, which allowed all deputies to remain mobile and readily available to respond to calls for service. And Yes, Rick bought TASERS for all deputies; a resource they never had prior to his tenure

Knowing Rick Dunlap as long as I have known him, and having the great opportunity to work both for and with Rick, I know he has the skills, knowledge, and the commitment to community necessary to serve everyone. I have a tremendous amount of respect for this man; he taught me a lot about being a sheriff and public servant. Rick is the best choice for District 3 County Commissioner in Montrose County.

PUBLIC SAFETY DEPENDS ON A STRONG AND WELL FUNDED SHERIFF DEPARTMENT

Editor:

With millions of illegal invaders invited into our country by liberal Democrat policies, "blue" cities and states are feeling the economic crunch as well as rising crime rates and are trying to shift that burden to other communities. It was noted in last weeks Mirror that Colorado ranks 47th out of 50 states in public safety, and our future public safety here in Montrose County is at risk in the June primary race for two new commissioners. Our continued public safety clearly depends on a strong and well funded Sheriff Department, unfortunately it has been well documented that the county has been inappropriately depleting the PSST fund created by public vote for the benefit of our MCSO for non qualifying General Fund uses. In short the county has been using the PSST as a slush fund to augment other county expenditures all to the detriment of our Sheriff Department and our collective public safety right here at home.

Last fall in the budget process Sheriff Lillard, facing recruitment and retention problems, requested an extra 4% salary increase for his department and a move to the FPPA retirement program but County Manager Washbush took it upon himself to recommended denial of those requests and our short sighted commissioners agreed opting instead to further deplete the PSST by 5.2 million to fund jail expansion, clearly a county capital project since the county owns the entire Justice complex, without the sheriff approval. Sadly those questionable decisions are now affecting our public safety as the MCSO is hemorrhaging employees due to an increased inability to compete or retain qualified personnel.

Exhibiting their full intention to continue the unrestricted use of the MCSO PSST fund as well as their refusal to even consider the FPPA retirement program our commissioners have hand-picked two successors to maintain the county status quo. Both have clearly been picked for anticipated ease of manipulation. Certainly not in the best interest of a strong MCSO or county public safety!

It has been noted publicly that Big Lou Stark has a record of four federal tax liens exceeding $83,000 along with a foreclosure, topped off with a bankruptcy. With that record of not being able to handle his own money wisely, do we really want to trust him with over $100 million of our tax dollars??? And our commissioners are trying to foster this guy off on taxpayers as qualified. Shame on them!!!! Rick Dunlap, the former sheriff, was totally unaware for twelve years that the county was pilfering his PSST funds. More importantly for voter consideration is the fact that if elected he will be faced with a huge CONFLICT OF INTEREST since his daughter-in-law Cindy Dunlap is the County Chief Financial Officer and he would have to declare that CONFLICT OF INTER-EST and recuse himself from ALL financial discussions or decisions . Short of her resignation from the Finance Department the perception of a family bias in all county financial issues will render Dunlap ineffective as a commissioner.

By far the best choices for the two commissioner seats are the two Scotts, Riba and Mijares. Both are accomplished entrepreneurs in their own right and will be impervious to any county special interest manipulation. It is important for voters to know that Gene Lillard, Montrose County Sheriff, strongly endorses the two Scotts for commissioner - a reason which in my opinion is a public request for help, since having a strong MCSO hangs in the balance of this primary election. Any voters unclear about this election are urged to contact Sheriff Lillard at 970-596-9929. Ballots are being mailed today and voters undecided are urged to attend the 6-8PM candidate forum scheduled for this Thursday June 6 at Friendship Hall. Please help our dedicated men and women at the MCSO and back Gene Lillard and vote for Scott Mijares and Scott Riba for County Commissioner. Dee Laird, Montrose

OPINION/EDITORIAL: EDITOR'S NOTE

To our Readers,

As a weekly newspaper we do offer an open platform for the first amendment and free speech, and our readers are able to read and learn from the letters we publish. However, it has been brought to our attention that Ray Langson's letter of May 27 makes false statements about County Commissioner Candidate Scott Mijares, in addition to referring to Mijares as a "Con Artist." While letters are expressions of opinion, Mr. Langston makes several highly specific but unsubstantiated claims. Among those claims is one that asserts Mijares was a registered Democrat in Hawaii in 2004 and that candidate Mijares was convicted of 3rd degree assault in Hawaii in 2002, which is false (see links to source material below). In his letter Mr. Langston stated that Mijares was permanently banned from trading stocks or securities by the Securities and Exchange Commission, which is also false (see link below.) Mr. Mijares has provided us with direct evidence that all three of Mr. Langston's claims about him are verifiably untrue. Below are links to the documents shared with us by Scott Mijares with his own comments.

Thank you for reading, Mirror Editor Caitlin Switzer

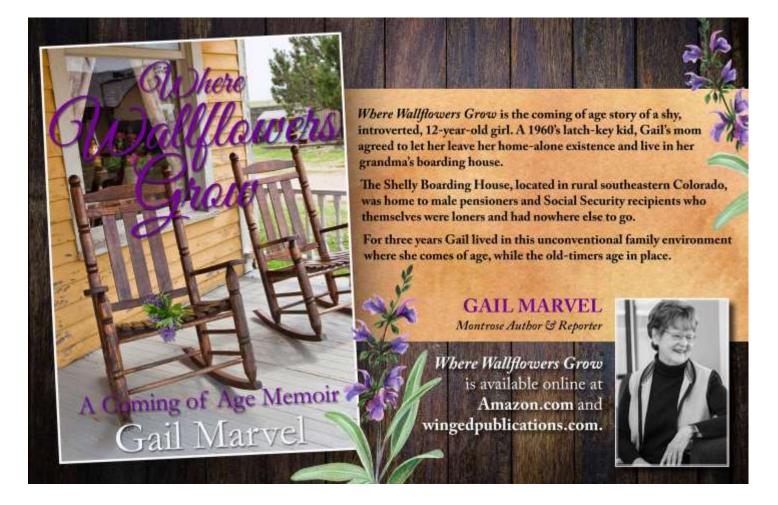

LINKS TO MIJARES DOCUMENTS:

1) PDF of my SEC Settlement agreement, (see sections I, II, and III where it clearly states that I will not participate the sale of stocks in a scheme to defraud, etc. The document also says that I did not admit or deny the allegations made by the SEC in the Civil Complaint.)

2) A copy of the assault case in 2002 showing "No Plea, No Sentencing, and Case Closed". Also included is a copy of a letter written to me yesterday by the real victim of the incident Kahaunani Holden (age 19 at the time) She praises me for coming to her defense after being attacked by a man twice her size. She also says that her attacker was ultimately charged by police in the incident 22 years ago.

3) I do not have a copy of my Voter Registration in Hawaii in 2004 but can assure you Ray does not either. I have tried to retrieve the record but they do not maintain those records in Hawaii. It should be noted that I co-hosted a conservative talk show while in Hawaii and have hosted the Montrose Republican Social hour at the Wild Horse for the past 18 months which makes Rays claims absurd and untrue.

Here is a link to a letter I wrote to the Governor of Hawaii, Linda Lingle(R) in 2007 where I clearly state that I am in fact a conservative republican. Island Breath: Superferry News of the Day 9/16 & 17

BOCC MANAGEMENT AND WHY ELECTIONS MATTER

Editor:

I have shared with you in the last few weeks my opinion of what I feel is and has been a monumental failure in both leadership and management by the county commissioners. It is never easy for employees to come forward and state their views and recommendations for improvements while being an employee at Montrose County, but as I have explained, others and I have tried. The fear of retribution and losing our jobs was and is very real to those I have talked with at the county. Our current board of BOCC has been in charge for so long they are wrapping up their second terms as County Commissioner and in my opinion, they have lost all awareness that they work for the people of Montrose County and are not some sort of selfdefined royalty that has not only destroyed all trust with many county employees but also citizens from the WEST END to OLATHE. I do not believe that, but for very few people, anyone wants anything to do with them or to put up with them at their so-called 'three-minute and sit down, we have heard enough from your public' BOCC meetings. Who would even consider attending such meetings where insults have been hurled at those in disagreement. Now, imagine what employees might have suffered through? I think anyone would be upset. We the affected persons reserve the right to be cynical and are.

This upcoming election for County Commissioner is critical to just what type of Commissioners and what and who they really represent. As a former supporter of Rick Dunlap (NO MORE) I approached him and asked for solutions to the concerns with county management. All I got from Dunlap was a verbal run around and no thought as to how to remotely address my concerns. Big Lou (whoever he is) Stark seemed not to want to be bothered and crickets. No thoughts, no solutions.

I have heard that the commissioners are very concerned about their policies being brought out into the SUNLIGHT for public analysis.

If Sue Hansen cannot work with Scott Riba and Scott Mijares I really wonder, why? I found both Scott's to be engaging, concerned and completely open to making Montrose County open, transparent, and trusted again.

The respect and thoughtfulness I received from both Scott's quite frankly overwhelmed me.

The county has received over $100,000, 000 from the road and bridge tax over and above the General Fund. I will be providing real time pictures of more, "to come." Chuck Bell, Montrose

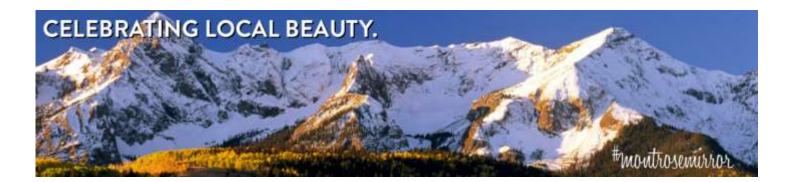

HOW IS PRIDE GATHERING 'FAMILY FRIENDLY?'

Editor:

How interesting that a recent announcement in your paper about a Pride gathering is described as "family friendly." I believe that an event promoting homosexuality and questioning your biological gender is anything BUT family friendly. This should be more appropriately framed as mental health support versus promoting families. We need to stop normalizing perceptions and values that are anything but normal. We are all being pressured to accept this way of thinking but that's not fair or healthy. Any heterosexual family that finds itself dealing with a child that questions their sexuality or gender knows that they can be in for a hard ride. That's not to say that everyone doesn't deserve love because, of course, they do. However, promoting it as normal and pressuring the rest of us so that a MINORITY can feel okay is a great dysfunction.

And when folks disagree with me, as I'm sure they will, let's keep it civil. That is actually something that should be normalized...civil exchange.

GAIL MARVEL CHATS WITH CD3 CANDIDATE JEFF HURD

A newcomer to politics, Jeff Hurd was raised on the Western Slope and is running for Congress in Colorado's 3rd Congressional District. When asked if he has the necessary thick skin to be a politician he said, "Absolutely. I don't take myself too seriously. I don't pretend to have all the answers. I don't have all the answer...just ask my kids." He laughed and said, "And my wife agrees with the kids!" (Hurd Family Courtesy photo)

By Gail Marvel

GRAND JUNCTION- Jeff Hurd, who is 44 years old and from Grand Junction, Colorado, is running for Congress in Colorado's 3rd Congressional District. He said, "I was born in Greely and moved to Grand Junction when I was seven years old." After graduating from Grand Junction High School, Hurd went to Notre Dame, the University of Denver (law school), and then received an advanced law degree from Columbia Law School.

After working for several years at an international law firm headquartered in New York City, Jeff knew he wanted to return to Western Colorado. In 2014 the Hurd family moved back to Grand Junction where he became co-owner of a small law firm and later opened, and now leads, the Grand Junction office of Ireland Stapleton Pryor & Pascoe PC.

Jeff and wife Barbora (originally from Czechoslovakia), have five children ranging in age from 15 to 2 years old. Faith is the center of their family, and together they are committed to raising their children with Christian principals.

When asked about his political life, Hurd said, "This is my first campaign. I haven't even run for dog catcher before." The motivation for Hurd to seek public office came during a meeting at the Craig Power Plant. He said, "There were a group of us around the table and these coal miners were losing their jobs and their livelihoods because of government regulations. I left the meeting thinking these people need an advocate...that's something I can do. I feel called to serve the district where I was raised. I want to fight for rural Colorado, but I don't want to fight loud; I want to fight smart."

Understanding the economic challenges of the area Hurd said, "I don't want to see rural Colorado get left behind. Our greatest export is our kids. I want to create economic opportunities for our kids to stay here, if they want to stay here, and to thrive in rural Colorado."

Incumbent Lauren Boebert (R) chose to run for reelection in Colorado's 4th District, which leaves the 3rd District open. There are 10 Republican candidates running for Colorado's 3rd Congressional District in the upcoming primary. Commenting on negative advertising coming from his opposition Hurd said, "I don't do negative ads. I'm focused on pro-rural Colorado, I'm not against anyone. I'm not afraid to disagree, but I always try to do it without being disagreeable." When asked about challenges he would face in a Trump administration, Hurd said, "I share Trump's priorities. Under Trump we can create opportunities for families. We can unshackle regulations that are crippling Colorado."

Speaking to challenges he would encounter if he were under a Biden administration Hurd said, "I would push back hard against regulations. Government is so overregulated that it is pushing rural Colorado into poverty."

Hurd feels that service is a critical role for a congressman. He said, "It's not just passing laws in Washington DC, it's the nuts and bolts of offering the help you can provide. I want to be judged by the effectiveness of what I'm able to do for individual constituents."

By all appearances, much of the focus of Hurd's campaign has been on the energy sector. He said, "Actually no. Having a secure boarder is my top priority. However, having abundant, low-cost energy saves everyone money so they can put food on the table, fill the car with gas, and pay the electric bill."

Being a political candidate is not for the faint of heart. Hurd said, "In the last nine months I've driven 24,962 miles...that's a little over once around the globe. My struggle with campaigning is that I'm missing my kid's music recitals and baseball games."

Constituents who engage with Hurd will immediately notice that one of his political strengths is the ability to converse and discuss issues, i.e. protecting water rights, agriculture, inflation, transportation).

When asked to describe his weakness, Hurd said, "Sometimes I tend to be a perfectionist...I need to focus on what is possible, not what is perfect."

Beginning the week of June 3rd citizens can expect to start getting their primary ballots in the mail.

Special to the Mirror

MONTROSE—Montrose County residents are invited to learn more about the draft Montrose County Master Plan at public presentations starting June 10.

The draft plan will be presented to residents for input at five events across the county. The master plan guides the growth and physical development of the unincorporated areas of the county and relies heavily on public input.

County staff and master plan contractors will provide a presentation on the draft plan outlining key topics like natural resources, agriculture, economic development, utilities and services, transportation, and land use. Following the presentation, county staff and the master plan contractors will be available for questions and discussion.

Public engagement is a critical part of the master plan and the public is encouraged to fill out a survey to provide feedback. A draft of the master plan will be available on montrosecounty.net for residents to review in advance. Additionally, for those unable to attend, a recorded presentation is also available on the master plan website.

Presentation/Open House Schedule June 10- Montrose County Event Center (1036 North 7th Street, Montrose), 4:00-7:00 p.m.

What is the Master Plan?

The Montrose County Master Plan serves as a crucial tool for guiding future growth and development. It establishes long-term goals and policies that inform decisionmaking regarding land use, zoning regulations, subdivisions, hazard regulations, annexation decisions, development review, and other development-related matters.

The plan is a non-regulatory document, but it heavily influences how these ordinances are created or amended.

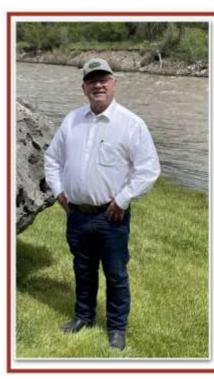

Looking Ahead

Montrose County will continue to process the public feedback received at the open houses.

This input will be instrumental in finalizing the master plan, ensuring it reflects the community's vision for the future of Montrose County. The plan will be brought before the Montrose County Planning Commission for final approval in the fall at a public meeting.

Residents can find more information about the Master Plan update process, including the draft plan and meeting summaries by visiting the Master Plan webpage.

FLOOD FOLLOWS FLOOD

The flood in 1909 pushed Portland Creek over the banks of the channel on the south end of Main Street in Ouray. Similar flooding happened in Cascade Creek on the north end of town. The St. Elmo Hotel is on the right edge of the photo. Photo courtesy of the Ouray Historical Society

By Bob Cox

OURAY-Anyone who has visited, or even driven through the quaint mountain town of Ouray has likely looked at, and appreciated the beauty of the mountains east of town, commonly called the Amphitheater. Most of the time the view is breathtaking and little thought is given to what happens to the melting snow and falling rain that makes the landscape so enthralling, but with the beauty also comes the possibility of disaster.

of the day on July 21, 1909, those beautiful mountains were subjected to an inordinate amount of rainfall. The Cow Benchmark, better known as Amphitheater, Cascade Mountain and the head waters of Skyrocket Creek, all of which range in elevation from 12,000 to just over 13,000 ft., were subjected to a series of cloudbursts. The creeks that headwater in the area fall about 5,000 ft. in a distance of about three miles. Two of the creeks, Cascade Creek and Portland Creek, flow into the town and through culverts on Main Street before dumping into the Uncompanyre River below town. In a report printed on the morning of July 22, 1909, the Daily Sentinel in Grand Junction reported, in part: It seems that the cloudburst occurred in the mountains just east of Ouray and about 4 o'clock. Without warning to the people of the town, a great flood swept down the channels of the two creeks which find their way from east to west through the town. It is said that the wall of water was from 7 to 10 feet high and extended from one creek bed to the other, making a Early in the morning and throughout most veritable sea of flood about one-fourth of a mile in width.

> The culverts that provided a channel for both Portland Creek and Cascade Creek were quickly plugged with large boulders and debris. The several bridges on the streets and alleyways where Portland Creek traverses the town were literally washed away. According to various accounts, the bridge over Portland Creek on 6th Street was the first to plug up, creating a dam that backed water up into the canyon. The dam broke, sending the wall of water on down through more bridges until the bridge in the alley between 4th Street and Main Street washed out. One half block later, the flood waters and debris hit Main Street and turned it into a river of rock, fallen trees and pieces of the bridges. The water flooded the Elks Lodge and headed north.

Most of the businesses in town were above the water and escaped serious damage, but those businesses and residents in the path of the Portland water suffered heavy damages. At the same time Cascade Creek was wreaking havoc in the lower part of town. The homes north of 8th Avenue from above 5th Street to just north of 9th Avenue, where the channel crosses Main Street were partially washed away. The culvert under Main Street plugged up and some of the water from Portland made it all the way down Main Street. Most of the water channeled its way to the river, but left behind piles upon piles of debris. According to the Sentinel article, a total of nearly one mile of curbing was destroyed.

According to two news accounts, several people braved the rushing waters on horseback and with wagons to aid those who had fallen or were stranded. No lives were lost, save that of a small burro that was swept away in the initial wave of water that rushed down Main Street. Cleanup efforts began almost immediately. Men and women alike gathered, picking up rocks and removing the debris. Wagons were hastily hooked up to help haul away what could be loaded.

Just days later, insult was added to injury. The Rocky Mountain News, in its September 6, 1909 edition, dated as an August 22 release, reported the following: Heavy rain, which fell continuously today in the amphitheater of Portland Creek threatened this town with a disaster similar to the recent one when Portland Creek overflowed its banks and poured a large torrent of rocks and water through the main street of the town. Today, the warning was given early, and 100 teams, manned by very able-bodied men in town, labored incessantly to keep the creek within its bounds. Logs and sandbags were employed to strengthen the dikes, which had been built ten feet above the normal bank of the stream where the stream runs through the town. Their efforts were only partially successful, and when the crest of the flood came down at 1 o'clock this afternoon many of the buildings damaged two weeks ago were again flooded. Another consequence of the flooding was the interruption of train service from Ouray and more flooding in the areas around Telluride exacerbated the problem. The train tracks and damage were not repaired until just a few days before Christmas, and even then the repairs were temporary. According to The Montrose Enterprise, the first train from Montrose to Telluride took place on December 20th and consisted of a very limited number of cars.

Following the August flood the citizens of Ouray united to mitigate any further such disasters. They proposed, in the words of both the Ouray and the Telluride newspapers, to "clean out, deepen and enlarge the channels of Cascade and Portland creeks, and to line the sides and bottoms with cement." The goal was to prevent logs and other debris from encountering obstacles and creating a dam. Some even proposed a special tax to be levied for the improvements.

Some of the improvements were accomplished and the Cascade and Portland flumes were constructed, but in mid-July of 1919, Mother Nature spoke again. Much of the country was either in or just recovering from a major flu epidemic. The following press release was printed by the Rocky Mountain News and several other newspapers:

Ouray Inundated When Cloudburst Breaks Above City. OURAY, Colo. July 15 - A cloudburst, which broke over the American Flats at 7 o'clock last night caused a flood which an hour later swept over Cascade Falls and inundated the lower part of Ouray. Cascade flume was filled with thousands of tons of rock and debris for several blocks. By heroic efforts on the part of hundreds of Ouray citizens, the flood was turned down Main Street and found an outlet thru the baseball park into the Uncompahgre River. The Portland flume, across the north end of Ouray was filled to its utmost capacity with water because of the cloudburst but carried its load safely to the point near the Uncompahare outlet, where a small break occurred.

Once again, the citizens came to the rescue. A work holiday was declared at noon that day so that the debris could be cleared.

Flooding occurred several times over the next years. In 1929 some 40 families were forced to flee from their home, but no lives were lost and the improvements helped, but did not totally stop the damage. During that event, one house was washed from its foundation and swept down the river. The 1929 flood was declared by some to be the worst in the town's history. To add to the problem, Skyrocket Creek, which crosses the highway north of town, became plugged up sending debris down out of its channel into the lower part of town and washing the railroad tracks out. Because the power plant in Ouray supplied power to both Ouray and Montrose, the residents of both towns were plunged into darkness for about one hour.

At one time, nearly 40 years ago the Colorado Department of Highways established some "lift off' paving panels in the street where Cascade Creek crosses Main Street (U.S. Highway 550.) The panels were evidently never used and have long since been paved over.

PUBLIC INVITED TO WESTCLIFFE, MONTE VISTA TO DISCUSS FISHERIES MANAGEMENT

Special to the Mirror

MONTE VISTA. – Colorado Parks and Wildlife has scheduled two public meetings to discuss proposed fishing regulation changes that are aimed at advancing conservation goals related to Rio Grande cutthroat trout.

One meeting will be held in Westcliffe and another in Monte Vista.

The meeting in Westcliffe will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. June 10 at the West Custer County Library located at 209 Main St. The meeting in Monte Vista is slated for 6 to 8 p.m. June 13 at the conference room at CPW's office located at 722 Henderson Rd.

"We are proposing restricting harvest and tackle in the Sand Creek drainage to allow for the reestablishment of a self-sustaining Rio Grande cutthroat trout population," said CPW Aquatic Biologist Estevan Vigil.

"In addition to changing the regulations at Sand Creek, we are also proposing to restrict harvest and tackle at Rito Hondo Reservoir and the creek above the lake also to restore Rio Grande cutthroats." Both the Sand Creek and Rito Hondo drainages have recently been reclaimed by removing non-native fish from these drainages so Rio Grande cutthroat will thrive. The proposed regulations are aimed at protecting populations during the rebuilding process, which can take up to five years.

Additionally, another regulation change is also proposed for Kerr Lake within the Rio Grande National Forest south of South Fork. CPW has proposed the removal of special regulations involving fly-and-lure fishing only that has been in place at Kerr Lake since 1955. CPW has also proposed removing the limit of two fish and returning Kerr Lake to statewide regulations on bag and possession limits of four and eight.

CPW has found there is no biological reason to keep the special regulations at Kerr Lake in place.

"The cutthroat in Kerr Lake are sustained through stocking and are not genetically pure," Vigil said. "In order to match regulations to other waters managed the same way, we are proposing the removal of the special regs at Kerr Lake."

CPW will discuss these proposed changes and be available to discuss issues related to Rio Grande cutthroat trout conservation at these two meetings. All are welcome to attend.

"It is important we hear feedback from the public and local anglers before implementing any regulation changes," Vigil said.

A sitting County Commissioner with 2 years left on her term is campaigning for a candidate to serve on the Montrose County Board of Commissioners If this seems odd and unethical, it is.

The voters get to decide who represents them, not an elected official. Montrose is better served by a board that is made up of 3 independent thinkers who are there to serve the public, not another commissioner.

OPINION/EDITORIAL: LETTERS

SCOTT MIJARES WOULD BE A BLESSING TO THE COUNTY COMMISSION

Editor:

It's always refreshing and encouraging when somebody who is running for public office is honest, hard-working, fiscally responsible, and even creative. I'm here to attest that Scott Mijares, who is running for county commissioner is all of the above. I met Scott 17 years ago in Hawaii. We both owned and maintained acreage on the North Shore of Kauai. Keeping up with the demands of tropical Hawaii land was a daily requirement.

Upon my introduction to Scott he offered to help move a large dirt pile that had been stagnating in my yard for months. I obliged and sure enough the next day he was there bright and early with his new front loader making haste with the large task. Being frugal and thinking that I'd be paying a Hawaii wage, I was surprised when, at completion Scott offered his services gratis. I would learn over the years that deeds like this were common for Scott. Whether helping to organize and conduct an auction for charitable organization or diligently putting together a historical album for a legend surf veteran friend, Scott is willing and eager to offer a helping hand wherever or whenever he has the tools or talent.

It didn't take long before we became good friends and for our families to spend time together.

Over the years I enjoyed watching Scott build a creative brand of locally made products that were popular with merchants and tourists across Hawaii. He nurtured and participated in every step of the business from equipment sourcing and financing to product fulfillment and customer relationships.

Ultimately he would always achieve consistent quality and take pride in the final product delivered. As a seasoned entrepreneur Scott understands the importance of budgeting and practices conservative fiscal responsibility.

Eventually, as we both moved from Kauai, Scott would always feel at home in rural America, especially small community that would align with his conservative values. Montrose has been the perfect fit for Scott, his wife Juli and 110 lb pet Bernese, Koda. Nowadays, you may find Scott and Juli tending to the Wild Horse Whiskey and Wine bar that they recently built. Stop by, have a chat and you'll immediately get a feel for the Mijares' warmth and appreciate their hands-on workmanship.

It's in my humble opinion that Scott would be a trustworthy and hard working addition to Montrose public service.

He characteristically has an unwavering conviction for the truth and readiness to always defend what he believes in. My family fully supports his decision to run for county commissioner and I look forward to the improvements that he will contribute to Montrose.

PATTERSON TERM LIMITED AS DMEA FACES CONTESTED ELECTION From pg 1

On May 28 during the monthly Delta Montrose Electric Association (DMEA) Board meeting, a parting gift of appreciation was given to Board of Director Bill Patterson. Patterson, who is term limited, has served 12 years on the DMEA board. (L to R) Patterson and DMEA Chief Executive Officer (CEO) Jack Johnston. Johnston thanked Patterson for his contribution to DMEA and wished him well in the future. Patterson, not one to ride off into the sunset, laughed and said, "I won't be going away!"

McGill, who attended by Zoom. Delta resident Kent Cloward attended in person but did not have comments for the board.

Board Recognition:

Both Jock Fleming and Stacia Cannon were recognized for their continuing education efforts and received their Board Leadership Certificate (BLC) through the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association (NRECA). Bill Patterson, who is term limited, was recognized for serving on the board for 12 years.

Committee Chair Reports:

Finance-Audit-Rate Committee (FAR) – Damon Lockhart, Chair.

Lockhart said, "We did not meet." Engineering – Construction – Energy Services Committee – Enno Heuscher, Chair. Did not meet.

Member Relations Committee – Bill Patterson, Chair.

Patterson said, "We met on April 24 and talked about the upcoming annual meeting. We talked about candidates, method of voting, the low percentage of votes, CoBank scholarships, applications for scholarships, and how to personally hand out scholarships."

Executive Committee – Stacia Cannon, Chair Cannon said, "We did not meet either." Informational Item (Non-Privileged CEO Report) – CEO Jack Johnston.

Johnston noted that officials from other entities (i.e. CREA, Western United) would be attending future board meetings to meet the DMEA board. He said, "Pretty straight forward this month. We had scholarships and linemen attending hotline school for two weeks. It's advanced education and we gave out five scholarships. It's the best hands-on our staff can get here."

DMEA employees put large American flags on display in Delta and Montrose counties. Johnston said, "It's our contribution to national holidays. We put them up for Memorial Day and we'll put them up for the Fourth of July."

Addressing the topic of vegetation Johnston said, "By August we'll have the overall assessment done on our system as a whole. It includes vegetation removal and is leading up to the 2025 budget. Liability the last few years, we have improved. Mother nature has treated us well in April."

Kevin Williams asked about the accumulation of "little, tiny outages". Staff reported outages can be attributed to weather, wind, and snow. Car/pole accidents result in longer outages because poles must be replaced. There were no major event days in the month.

Continuing with his report Johnston said, "The trendline for EV charging stations has increased in usage."

Background: Net metering is a billing system that allows customers who generate their own electricity to exchange excess electricity and thus reduce their overall bill.

Johnston said, "There are a lot of solar sales developers in our territory. There is a lot of discussion on net metering on the State level and we're worried about misinformation. There is a PSA [Public Service Announcement] on our website to keep members informed. We want to help residents know what is and what is not factual."

DMEA donated an old GIS (geographic information system) which produces large maps, to North Fork High School.

Johnston informed the board about the number of ballots that have been returned for the upcoming board of directors' election. As of May 20, 2024, there was a 9.8 percent return, for a total of 2,997 returned ballots. Ballots could be submitted by three different methods (Mail – 2,128; Web - 636; SmartHub – 233). However, before the meeting adjourned Johnston updated the report and ballots received now stood at13.29 percent. Looking at past years, 2016 had a 19.06 percentage of returned ballots. Informational Iten (Non-Privileged Legal Report) – Attorney Sarah Abbott.

Abbott said, "We've been looking at governing policies. We're taking another look at the By-laws in an ongoing effort to modernize governing. We've been preparing for the upcoming election."

Informational Item Director Reports Western United Electrical Supply (WUES) Report – Jock Fleming.

In Fleming's absence, Johnston said, "The backlog of transformers has softened. There is a significant improvement. They are looking to expand to another State. Their business is doing extremely well." Colorado Rural Electric Association (CREA) Report – Damon Lockhart.

Lockhart reported on a meeting at Grand Valley Power. He said, "This is a very diverse group. I listened a lot."

Johnston said, "DMEA is active in the conversation of net metering. We're over five percent and growing. We have system limitations. Pace is slowing down right now."

Note: Recent changes in DMEA department head titles:

Jay Suckey, Interim CIO Bob Farmer, Interim CFO Gayle Gouker, Senior Advisor to the CFO

Informational Item: Form 7

Senior Financial Advisor Gayle Gouker deferred to Interim Chief Financial Officer Bob Farmer.

Form 7, which had a deadline of April 30, has already been filed with an electronic signature. Information on Form 7 has been seen by the board. Johnston said, "It's a static report."

Capital Credit Allocation - Interim Chief Financial Officer Bob Farmer.

Farmer explained the two options available, allocation by revenue or by kilowatt hours. His recommendation was allocation by revenue in order to maintain consistency with past practices. Passed unanimously.

It was determined a formal vote would be appropriate. Passed unanimously. Member Comments:

Representatives of the Citizens Climate Lobby (Kent Dolezal, Tony Hoag, and Mary Loncar) addressed the board to encourage DMEA to be more aggressive in promoting rooftop solar as a means to the goal of 100 percent renewable energy. Joseph McGill (on Zoom) is also a proponent of solar and renewable energy and made brief comments to the board. Hoag, president of the Citizens Climate Lobby, will meet CEO Johnston in the near future. Johnston, who would not commit to DMEA's future plans, said, "But I can tell you where we are at today."

Unclaimed Capitol Credit Fund Donation Request – Montrose County.

Making the request for $50,000 were Montrose County Manager Jon Waschbusch, Montrose County Communications Director Katie Yergensen, and Scott Stryker, Stryker & Co.

Because of technical difficulties with the video, Waschbusch used PowerPoint for his presentation. Funds are requested for the remodel project of the 100-year-old Montrose County Courthouse. Waschbusch said, "The historical aspect of the building is that everything was produced locally [bricks, timber, sandstone, labor]. Totally local building, a local effort."

Stryker, the contractor for the project, spoke about the circulation of money locally. He said, "It's a $ 13M contract. A small portion will go to Denver and Grand Junction, but 95 percent goes to the Delta/ Montrose area."

Waschbusch said, "We [Montrose County and DMEA] serve the same folks. We have the same service area." Other entities partnering on this project with the county are DOLA (Department of Local Affairs) and the City of Montrose (waived fees). Waschbusch said, "This is a cash project. There is no debt."

DELTA COUNTY'S USEFUL PUBLIC SERVICE OFFICE INTRODUCES NEW COMMUNITY SERVICE OPPORTUNITY BENEFITING SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM

Special to the Mirror

DELTA COUNTY- Delta County's Useful Public Service Program (UPS), a division of the Delta County Criminal Justice Services Department, has developed an innovative opportunity for defendants sentenced to community service. This new initiative allows individuals to donate to the Delta County Summer School District Lunch Program to fulfill half their required service hours. For many years, defendants have had the option to donate meat to the local jail as part of their community service obligations. This new program expands the scope of donation opportunities, providing a meaningful way for individuals to contribute to the well-being of the community's children. "We believe this is a positive step forward," said Useful Public Service Coordinator Greg Jackson. "By allowing donations to the summer school lunch program, we are giving people an opportunity to support a crucial aspect of our community – the health and nutrition of our students."

The Delta County School District Lunch Program plays a vital role in ensuring that all students receive nutritious meals during the summer months. This is especially important for families in need, who may struggle to afford the additional cost of providing extra food at home to ensure their children have proper lunches during months when school is in recess. This new option not only diversifies the ways in which defendants can fulfill their community service requirements but also strengthens the support network for local schools. UPS is committed to creating programs that benefit both the community and those serving community service sentences.

This initiative aligns with our mission to foster community engagement and support essential services.

For more information about this new opportunity or to participate, please contact Useful Public Service at 970-874-2028.

OPINION/EDITORIAL: COMMENTARY

A MODERN DAY AL CAPONE? Commissioner Candidate Big Lou Stark has a lot to Explain!

By David White

I want to thank Montrose County District 1 agreed to settle for a total of Commissioner candidate Big Lou Stark for sitting down with the Montrose Daily Press' Katharhynn Heidelberg this past week to discuss the $83,487.01 in Federal tax liens that he has accumulated over the course of almost 20 years of not paying his Federal taxes and why he did it and how he's rectifying what he owes the government and by extension, all of us who pay our taxes.

Mr. Stark stated that: "he realizes it was wrong not to pay his taxes previously, as part of what he called a misguided protest." "Basically, what it was, was a childish mistake." "Stark said he was angry to see how the federal government spent money and, as a teenager, decided he would "protest" by not paying taxes." "Further, he realized the people on whose behalf he was trying to make a point were, in fact, paying their taxes. "I realized that by me not paying taxes, it was offensive."

The MDP article went on to say that "Stark worked with a tax settlement firm to address the issue and said he has been making payments under a plan, trimming the outstanding settlement balance to about $9,600. He said that prior to announcing his run for office, he checked to see whether the lien notice had been removed and realized the firm hadn't correctly set an agreement that would remove the lien." "Stark provided a copy of Nov. 30, 2022, communication with the tax settlement firm, which stated the IRS $10,106."(https://

www.montrosepress.com/news/ commissioner-candidate-stark-pledges-tosatisfy-tax-lien-calling-his-tax-protest-amistake/article_4a4ac854-1f7f-11ef-820fbf71f956de4c.html)

While I can give Big Lou a pass on his misguided beliefs as a teenager, it's hard to accept and pass it off as just that when all of those around you are paying their share into adulthood even though they may hold the same anti-government beliefs as he does. As most law-abiding taxpayers know, tax evasion (which is what Big Lou was guilty of), used to be grounds for jail time. Today, you can hire someone to talk the IRS out of throwing you in the clink for a few years. Such was Big Lou's fortune. Al Capone didn't fare as well and wound up in prison for a few years.

So...Big Lou was able to get $73,381.01 written off of his back taxes bill leaving him with $10,106 to pay as of November 30, 2022 – 18 months ago. Simple math tells us that he has paid back $506.00 of his $10,106.00 balance or $28.11 per month if his payments started on December 1, 2022. So, what of the amount written off? Most likely, it was added to the Federal deficit meaning that all of us will own a piece of that debt. Lucky us! Fundamentally, if Big Lou wins the June 25, 2024, Republican Primary election, he'll be one of our County Commissioners (by default) charged with managing a $113,000,000++ budget; overseeing the County Manager and making HUGE decisions that will impact all of us. His paycheck will be $101,000 a year and the $9,600 still owed the IRS will be paid with your tax money. Pure and simple. For him, problem solved. For us? You know! With a track record of not paying taxes, having his home foreclosed on after less than two years of ownership and a variety of other issues that prove him to be a less than adequate County Commissioner candidate or elected County Commissioner, it's time for Big Lou to bow out. But that won't happen when you have sitting County Commissioners Sue Hansen, Roger Rash and Keith Caddy endorsing and supporting Big Lou's candidacy along with other Republican elected officials. Why? Perhaps the rot within the GOP (yes, the Dems have plenty of rot too) has clouded the clear thinking that used to exist within the party. Vetting a candidate should be a requirement of party leadership. Nice guys like Big Lou are still nice guys. But that doesn't make them qualified to hold public office.

COLORADO OUTDOORS – URBAN RENEWAL OR A NEW "PIE IN THE SKY" BET? More of Your Tax Dollars Going to the Elites

By David White

As if the ongoing implosion of the Colorado Outdoors medical center wasn't enough to make our City leaders think twice about the direction their Montrose Urban Renewal Authority's (MURA) Colorado Outdoors project is heading, without telling the public the whole story, another $709,645.88 of your tax dollars are being spent to further the goals of the private developers who are operating multiple "shell" companies in an ongoing effort to benefit themselves and their wealthy clients. More on this in a minute.

Most folks in the local business community have become painfully aware of the financial hardships that have come upon several local contractors and service providers as the result of the Ovation Healthcare decision to stop construction on the highly touted Colorado Outdoors Medical Center in the Colorado Outdoors development. Black Mountain Capital (a Nevada based corporation owned by the Dragoo family who partnered with the City Manager and City Council to create the Urban Renewal Authority) sold the land for the medical center to Colorado Outdoors Healthcare Property Co., LLC (a Delaware limited liability company) whose mailing address and corporate office are in Brentwood, Tennessee and in the same building as Quorum Health Corporation and their subsidiary company Ovation Healthcare.

The tangled web of layered corporations and responsible parties has brought together the perfect storm for our local contractors, sub-contractors and other companies who thought they were protected, by contract, from the risks associated with dealing with these entities. Unfortunately for them, they came to find out that regardless of the multiple number of liens filed against the general contractor and his liens against the corporation that contracted to build the medical facility, no one is getting paid and more liens and most likely a formal foreclosure against the project will ensure that this project might be the first of more failures to come. An abandoned building near the gateway to Colorado Outdoors isn't the image MURA has sought to create, yet here it is for the world to see. In the midst of this, we came to learn in April of this year about "Project Green." This project is owned by Greenline Ventures of Denver, "an impact-focused investment management firm that specializes in providing creative and flexible capital to underserved businesses and communities that are often neglected by traditional capital providers." (https:// www.greenlineventures.com/overview). Greenline is set to build 96 1&2 bedroom apartments to be rented at "market rates" (code for $1,500-$2,000+ per month). They will also be constructing 10,000 square feet of retail and commercial space (plans call for a restaurant to use 50% or more of this space) with construction to start in early 2025. Greenline Ventures claims to have raised over $1.8 billion of capital and has invested over $2.5 billion in businesses and projects in "high distress census tracts throughout the country." Given that Montrose must be, in their words, a "high distress" area, it's interesting that they are evidently not interested in low-income housing. What they are interested in though is DEI (Diversity, Equity and Inclusion) as a matter of making a political mantra their calling in life. The following is an excerpt from their corporate mission statement:

"At Greenline, we passionately believe that all people are created equal. Although this belief is foundational to our culture, we, as a society, have not practiced this ideal. Race, gender identity, socio-economic status, religious beliefs, immigration status, and many other factors define perceptions and determine the privilege of an individual. This asymmetry in our society has resulted in centuries of injustice and the dehumanization of people. Accordingly, Greenline unequivocally believes that Black Lives Matter, and we are deeply committed to supporting those peacefully protesting against violence, injustice, and racism as well as those working to create social equity and to uplift one another towards our highest principles." "Greenline recognizes that the lasting, systemic change required to impact the deep-seated historical disparities in our country will require individuals and organizations to commit to urgently focus on these issues over an extended period of time. Even during challenging and turbulent times, we must stay on our mission to drive this change." https://

www.greenlineventures.com/racial- equity-and-inclusion

While I believe that "all lives matter," I must ask our City leaders the question of what is it that this "corporation" is going to bring to our community that's a positive (beside their money)? BLM is well known for burning, looting, rioting and committing other acts of violence to incite civil unrest in order to extract "change" from weak politicians. They are proponents of defunding law enforcement. And yet, this corporation supports an organization such as BLM and its goals? Do we really need them in Montrose? Nope! All of this brings me back to the $709,645.88 that the City Manager and his staff convinced the City Council to approve in January of this year to construct a 275-foot extension of Tributary Street (which is the street in front of the new Fairfield Inn by Marriot and the defunct medical center in the Colorado Outdoors project going to the west into the land abutting the Uncompany River. Funding for the 275 feet of road comes from the

the sewer fund ($100,000) and the City's capital improvements budget ($400,000 budgeted and a cost overrun of $209,645.88 made up the balance of $609,645.88).

The City Engineer, Scott Murphy, when asked about this expenditure by Councilmember Dave Frank in the City Council Work Session on January 16, 2024, stated that they needed to install 30" diameter sewer pipe, water lines, and other utilities even though there weren't any formal development proposals for the area at the end of the street extension. He stated that "more (development) is slated" but that "nothing is in focus at the point." The reality is that Mr. Murphy most likely knew that a new development was, in fact, "in focus." A new development has been in the works for some time and, while not yet discussed and approved through MURA public meetings, on May 6, 2024, it was disclosed that a new luxury "garage condominium" community with a private, member's only club has begun to be marketed as ParkHouse (homes) and The Reserve at ParkHouse (10,000+ square foot clubhouse with private Owner's Lounge and concierge services) under MLS No. 813241 (Multiple Listing Service used by realtors to list properties for sale). Pricing starts at $420,000 per unit for a 1,200 square foot luxury garage/ condominium. Need a place to park your Ferrari, Mercedes, Porsche, Lamborghini or other luxury car while you're jetting around the world? This is it! (for more information, check out their website and see what you're missing: https:// www.parkhousereserve.com/) Is this what Montrose needs in the way of housing? I don't think so, but it is a free market UNLESS, the taxpayers are going to fund this latest development scheme in Colorado Outdoors and all indications are that this will be the case as evidenced by the expenditure of funds to bring highcapacity utility lines into this development via Tributary Street. Ever wonder why the 1% are the 1%? This is a case in point. Use other people's money. Defer taxes until 2042 as is the case within the boundaries of the urban renewal area and you've got yourself a great investment property, but at a cost to the taxpayers that you won't have to pay as the rest of us will pick up the cost. The prices of these units will do nothing but inflate housing prices further putting the affordability of homes out of reach of most people.

Time will tell if this latest scheme is going to work. The City's too far into the Colorado Outdoors development to quit, so guard your wallets. They'll be coming for what little is left in them to keep the illusion of success alive.

Mr. White is an active citizen & community leader as well as a business owner, entrepreneur, former Montrose City Councilmember and Mayor as well as a two term County Commissioner and has served on many boards and commissions during his career. He & his wife are the parents of six children and have 10 grandchildren & one great grandchild.

OPINION/EDITORIAL: LETTERS

FROM WHERE I SIT: A STARKER REPLY

Editor:

FROM WHERE I SIT S21: Opinion: Candidate for County Commissioner District 1 Campaign letter posted in the Mirror May 27, 2024. "A STARK CONTRAST" highlighted exactly what happens when a candidate talks a lot and PRESENTS "NOTHING" IN THE WAY OF SOLUTIONS. I will respond to his letter as follows:

Mr. Stark, or BIG LOU, announced his candidacy out of the blue ABOUT NINE MONTHS AGO. We all asked who this person is, where he came from and what makes him think that he is qualified for the position of a Commissioner of Montrose County?

To date what we have learned is that Mr. Stark has a record of tax liens and personal foreclosures that are not singular but numerous. In other words, not an accidental occurrence but apparently purposely undertaken. Try as he might to justify his conduct and his disregard for the same laws we all must follow, he has failed. I can only ask who in their right mind would hire someone off the street with Mr. Stark's credentials and put them in a position of trust and responsibility in a small business, no less a $110,000,000 and 400 employee business.

Mr. BIG LOU STARK never thinks to mention the costs incurred by others attempting to collect from him, in other words, the financial difficulties his inconsiderate behavior may have cost others. In short, when one fails to pay his tax bill he fails to pay the cost of keeping him in our society. He takes all the services his government provides but does not contribute to what those services cost his fellow citizens. Bums don't pay their taxes but they don't take from us either! In his letter in the Mirror he speaks about those with political and personal agendas, yet fails to describe his motivations or agendas. Yet, Mr. Stark, most of us are recognized by what we have accomplished in our lifetimes and the people that we are associated with. What we stand for and who we stand with are who we are. Big Lou has been running for County Commissioner for nine months and yet refuses to identify his standing on issues that have been repeatedly presented to him for answers.

Had he ever paid attention to the conduct of BOCC meetings he would surely have found that few constituents voice their opinions there---the only folks that show up are those that want permits or exceptions to laws or regulations. No one else attends or participates because the significant citizenry of Montrose County refuse to get a three minute sound bite to present and then get dumped on by a disparaging commissioner or two that don't like the content of their comment. Having attended a few sessions to learn what the BOCC does and possibly having slept through at least one of them, it is no wonder he cannot identify issues he would like to correct or a possible solution or two. Two significant issues the present BOCC refuses to address themselves to or to resolve is the abuse of the funds the PSST has generated and the institution of a better retirement plan for the sworn officers of the Sheriff's Office. The STONE-WALLING of this issue (by candidates and the BOCC) is an unconscionable refusal of their duties to insure protection and safety of the community. If Mr. Stark was really interested in the people of Montrose he would have, instead of IGNORING the concerns of the public, put at least a little thought and study into a position about those two issues.

We are losing highly trained, experienced deputies because of our BOCC's inaction on this matter. Delay is a serious mistake by them and certainly the refusal to vocalize his position indicates to me that he knows and/or cares nothing about the issue or he cannot figure out a way to mealy-mouth his support of the STATUS QUO all of whom appear to think we do not need police in our county!

SCOTT MIJARES, Mr. Stark's opponent in this election, has been unequivocally clear in supporting workable solutions to these issues.

In closing Mr. Stark will protect you from everything except himself. How can a candidate for a Commissioner's position be so un-committed to all issues except his own election to a good paying job? Based on his own refusal to study the issues and the community regarding what he should stand for and get done over the next four years it should be obvious to us all that he will accomplish little if elected. Vote FOR Scott Mijares for District 1 Montrose County Commissioner. Bill Bennett, Montrose

OPINION/EDITORIAL: LETTERS

BIDEN'S MESSAGE IS THAT THE COUNTRY IS EVIL, RACIST, AND FULL OF HATRED, AND HE WILL FIX IT BY EMPTYING THE TREASURY TO BUY VOTES

Editor:

Wow, what a contrast. Donald Trump had a wildly successful rally in the South Bronx last week. The Bronx is the poorest borough in NYC and the South Bronx is the poorest of the poor. Most residents are black or brown, and they vote overwhelmingly Democrat. No Republican presidential candidate has gone anywhere near the area in decades. In one of the bluest counties in the country, Trump did not pander to the audience. He didn't point out or attack enemies. He didn't bemoan their fate. He didn't promise government welfare programs or emphasize anyone's victimhood. Not one line of pandering to anvbodv.

The contrast with President Biden couldn't be starker. In three speeches in the last week or so, Biden talked about little other than racial grievance politics. In a speech at the Museum of African American History, Biden claimed America was beset by forces to deny freedom of opportunity for all Americans, and that there was an insidious movement led by his political opponent to hurt black people. In another disaster of a speech to the NAACP, the White House had to later make no less than ten corrections to it. In a self-centered commencement speech at Morehouse College riddled with some of his familiar falsehoods about himself, Biden painted a picture of a racist and evil America.

In another speech in Philadelphia, Biden literally bragged that he defiantly refuses to abide by rulings from the Supreme Court in his efforts to pander to one of his special interest groups. How dare the highest court in the land object to his shifting billion of dollars of student debt from rich credentialed radicals to less affluent middle-class Americans?

Biden's message is that the country is evil, racist, and full of hatred and that he will fix it by emptying the Treasury to buy votes. Trump, who had a very successful first term in improving the lives of all Americans, but especially minorities and the poor, acknowledges the very real economic, social, and foreign policies this country faces. Unlike Biden, his speeches show a man that loves his country and its people, and wants a better future for all. Biden wants to destroy it.

Voters have a choice between race-baiting and pandering Biden, or Trump's unbridled optimism for his country. Given Trump's reception in the South Bronx, it is apparent most Americans don't want the government handouts, and more federal government control of their lives. They don't want the illegal invasion. They want liberty, and the opportunities and prosperity that come with that freedom.

The Democrat party has moved so far left that they are using the playbooks of thugs like Stalin, Putin, and Daniel Ortega of Nicaragua. Nothing better illustrates the lawlessness of the Democrat party than the lawfare deployed against Trump. Biden and his handlers are shamelessly gleeful over the results of the Manhattan trial that they know was corrupt and unconstitutional from day one. Biden, the most corrupt president to ever hold office, had the audacity to state that "no one is above the law." It is common knowledge and indisputable that Biden and his family are a criminal enterprise that has willingly sold out the U.S. for million dollar payments from foreign enemies. Yet, like Hillary and numerous other Democrats, Biden has never been held accountable for his crimes.

Each of the lawsuits filed against Trump began in the White House with the help of the DOJ, which is as crooked as Biden. The NY district attorney's office is a swamp of anti-American, anti-Constitution radicals, some of whom are funded by Soros, and are committed to destroying our nation as founded.

Trump's vision for America as one of unity, strength, and prosperity stands in their way, and Democrats know they can't beat him fairly. Again, what a contrast. New York City is now an embarrassment to America – ruined by the elite radicals who run it. It is overrun by illegal migrants demanding everything and giving nothing, crime, violence, and now legal thuggery. Voting for Democrats is a vote for the total destruction of our legal system; rampant inflation; unaffordable energy prices; endless wars and possibly WWIII; continued invasion by illegals; from around the world - many of them terrorists; more pampering of criminals; more censorship; illegal surveillance; unsustainable debt; and a ruined economy. And don't forget to hate your neighbor. Ed Henrie, Montrose

CDOT MEETING FOCUSED ON FUTURE OF US50 BRIDGE From pg 1

"You're going to hear some things about the state of Colorado doing their best," Catlin said as he welcomed guests and opened the meeting. "To tell you the truth I'm proud of what they're doing." Director Lew opened discussion among CDOT officials and engineers by talking about what the inspection process that found the issues is meant to do. "In terms of the process, the process is supposed to identify things that could be catastrophic." Engineer Rob Beck stated that "We brought sophisticated methods out to essentially look into the steel. The anomalies are in the welds; that you cannot see with the naked eye."

Lew said that "The schedule that we've laid out is aggressive. If things go right with the weather and the team is able to continue to get materials; we're optimistic that this schedule is achievable. We just met with the federal team in (Blue Canyon) and their goal is to get done by July 4th as well."

The Blue Creek Canyon construction has been ongoing for several years now and will finish up this spring, which means that eastbound travelers on Highway 50 may face two separate traffic disruptions for the next month or so.

Beck explained an important point about the issues on the bridge. "Some of these things; are critical, and others aren't as urgent."

The span of time from about June 7 to 13 will be occupied with repairing critical structural issues on the bridge, and through the summer, the plan is to repair many other minor, non-critical issues found, while allowing the passage of traffic. "We would sequence the repairs to hopefully get more and more traffic, more weight," Lew said. "That sequence would get the bridge fixed by the end of the (summer) season."

Regional Director Smith told the audience that "The steel is scheduled to start arriving on June 5th. Once we can get steel on site, then we start performing critical repairs." He also stated, "It's a 24/7 operation we're gearing up for right now." After critical repairs, the hope of course is to open the bridge to limited traffic. One thing Smith said the Department is doing to help with this is stripping the asphalt off the deck of the bridge, to reduce weight.

Even once weight load is reduced and traffic is allowed, expectations shouldn't be full traffic. "On July 4th, we don't know how long openings will be," Smith said. "We need to be off of this structure before winter."

After discussion and a presentation on areas of the bridge affected by anomalies, the floor was opened to questions. One person asked if other bridges were identified with the same issue. Jason Smith said that the steel used for the Middle Bridge, T1 steel, was used in the Lake Fork bridge as well. Initial inspection was already done there, but no critical issues were found, so inspections moved to the Middle Bridge.

Eventually though, once issues with the Middle Bridge are ironed out, scanning will be done to see if the one on the Lake Fork of the Gunnison River has similar minor issues.

Another question brought up weight restrictions as far as travel across the bridge this summer. Smith answered that there would be, but that it was yet to be determined. Continuing, he dove into length and width as well.

"We're not sure if it'll be limited on the length necessarily. We do have to have a width restriction."

The Mirror asked what Federal Assistance looked like on the project, and how much or how little funds from Washington were helping.

Director Lew's answer didn't paint the prettiest picture but did tell of the determination of the State of Colorado to get it done anyway.

"We're not waiting for Federal dollars. When we applied for the funding, we were denied. The federal programs that are available for emergencies, are designed for acts of God." She said there was a range of events that could trigger distribution of funds, but that bridge inspections did not fall under those criteria. Some funds at the moment are coming from an emergency grant from the Colorado Transportation Commission. Lew went on to explain that state dollars would suffice, but that the hope is that future federal programs can assist.

"Fortunately, there are several sources of state funding. But we will also continue to pursue other sources of federal funds. There are some grant programs that we've applied for; that open in July and August. We'll be putting in applications for large amounts of federal funding."

"Longer-term, we've raised this question to the feds on why this kind of issue doesn't trigger the emergency funding. We may ask our delegation to raise that question to Congress," Director Lew said. Other questions followed, and the attendees from the public displayed some frustrations with the project, such as issues in public communications and the uncertainty the project brought. However, the good that has come of the issue was highlighted too. County Commissioner Sue Hansen said that as a result of the challenges faced by local ranchers, the County now had a "comprehensive producer list" for agricultural producers in the area, and the plan is to continue to expand and improve that further.

So far, weather has remained favorable for repairs, as crews continue to work toward the July 4th traffic goal. For further updates, visit codot.gov/ news/2024/us-50-bridge-closure, or call the Region 3 office at 970-243-2368.

the Shoshone Power Plant project. The Shoshone is one of, if not, the most important projects in water during my lifetime.

The fund-raising effort of the over 20 different entities on the Western Slope, along with the state's contribution, puts the project in a position to ask our federal partners to commit to preserving the way of life on the Western Slope." Mijares on numerous occasions has publicly stated that he was a lifelong republican. Mijares became a republican for the first time in his life on February 12th, 2024. Scott Riba assisted with this lie by providing a letter dated Feb 5th that he had verified Mijares's party affiliation, that letter appears on Mijares's web site. Scott Mijares voted the democrat ballot in the 2020 presidential primary. These facts can be verified by a records request from the Montrose county clerks' office and the Ouray County clerk's office. GUNNISON— The Grand Mesa, Uncompahgre and Gunnison (GMUG) National Forests' Gunnison Ranger District, in partnership with the National Forest Foundation (NFF), announces the continuation of the campground rehabilitation project at the Deer Lakes Campground and day-use area. The project is funded by the Great American Outdoors Act (GAOA). The following areas will temporarily be closed during reconstruction.

The purpose of the closure is to protect public safety during the reconstruction activity. The closure area encompasses the Deer Lakes Campground and day-use area, including National Forest System Road #788.1E and National Forest System Trail #458.0A–Deer Lakes Cutoff trail.

The site reconstruction project will address deferred maintenance by removing and replacing three vault toilets.

Campsites will be upgraded with new fire rings, tables, and tent pads, as well as new kiosks, signage and barrier rocks. The road and campground spurs will be improved with new aggregate and drainage, and foot traffic areas will be enhanced with crusher fines for walkways, stone retaining walls and steps as needed. The day-use area will be furnished with a new kiosk, tables and barrier rocks, and the parking area will be expanded for additional parking, along with new signage and wheel stops. Additionally, an accessible fishing area will be created with easy access from the newly constructed ADA parking and day-use lot.

"The ongoing reconstruction of the Deer Lakes Campground is intended to tackle the deferred maintenance issues on the GMUG," said Dayle Funka, Gunnison District Ranger. "Thanks to the funds awarded through GAOA, this crucial project will improve the recreational experience for visitors and upgrade outdated facilities." The GAOA was enacted in 2020 and is the single largest investment in public lands in U.S. history. GAOA funding provides federal land management agencies with critical resources to address deferred maintenance and improve infrastructure on our public lands.

He enlisted in the Navy in 1953 during the Korean War and proudly served for 4 years as an Aircraft Engine Mechanic. He was in charge of getting the planes up the ship elevator and prepared for takeoff. He was awarded the Good Conduct Medal and the National Defense Medal.

In December of 1953, he gave a good Navy buddy a ride home from Tennessee to Twin Falls, Idaho for his wedding, where he met the love of his life Dena Arlene Brooks, a cousin of the bride. Norman and Dena married on December 26, 1954 in Twin Falls, Idaho. They would have celebrated 70 years of marriage this December.

While stationed in San Diego, California,

Norman took Jesus as his Savior and was baptized on April 3, 1955.

He attended Del Mar College while in the military, and then University of Colorado until he was called home to manage the family farm in 1958.

They were blessed by the births of Kevin Swain on May 10, 1958, David Lee on April 22, 1959. Michele Jolene on April 13, 1969 and Ginger Leann on April 28, 1971. Norman farmed most of his life, purchasing his own farm in Shavano Valley in 1968. Even after retirement he had a hay field that he worked. In 1969 he delved into the insurance world part time. He later merged his company with another which then grew into the largest Montrose firm, The Insurance Center of Montrose. After retiring from there in 1988, he began land development projects. In 2011 he went to work as a salesman for his son Kevin at Big O Tires.

Norman has been a member of the Grange since 1959 and was elected to several state officer positions. He served on the Montrose Planning Commission for 17 years, on Tri-County water Board since 1988 and on the Project 7 Board. He beat Lymphoma Cancer in 2013, and a serious lung infection in 2014. He was valiantly fighting skin cancer. In the end it was his heart that was exhausted, most likely from loving everyone he knew so much.

A celebration of life for Ramona P Good, will be held on Thursday, June 13, 2024, at 11 am at the Montrose Christian Church, 2351 Sunnyside Road, Montrose, CO 81401.

A luncheon will follow.

Ramona's children will participate in a musical tribute to honor Ramona's love and encouragement of music. A trio comprised of Janice at the piano, Carol on the bassoon and Paul, on the euphonium will present favorite hymns.

Family and friends are invited to join in to remember a remarkable woman who devoted herself to her family and those around her in gentle caregiving. Ramona Pauline Larabee was born in Eastland, TX on September 27, 1929, the only child of Dennis T and Irene (Patterson) Larabee. She was raised in Anderson, IN. Both parents attended Anderson College, the headquarters for the Church of God. It was there that Ramona met Phil Good, a Church of God man from Merino, CO. The couple married in September of 1949 and moved to Greeley, CO where Phil completed his teaching degree in science. In the fall of 1954, Phil applied for a teaching position at Montrose High School, where he taught for the next 36 years.

Phil and Ramona had five children, Janice, Carol, Jeanine, Paul, and Neil.

Music played a special role in Ramona's life and as a child, she played the accordion for solos and in a little band that performed for PTA's and other community events. She was a contributor to the local Valley Symphony Orchestra where her children, Paul, and Carol, played in the orchestra. Carol continues to be an active bassoonist with the symphony. Paul enjoys playing his euphonium with groups in Ohio, where he currently lives. Daughter, Janice, is a music teacher where she lives near Melbourne, Australia.

Ramona was a homemaker, putting her own education on hold until she learned that she was about to lose her credits. She began picking up credits here and there and in 1970, at age 40, she finally got her degree.

Phil and Ramona belonged to the Montrose Christian Church and celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary there in September of 1994, just weeks before Phil passed away from multiple myeloma.

Over the years, Ramona taught Sunday School, VBS and participated in prayer chains and helped with funeral dinners. Her other ministry was to the elderly. She was a caregiver and was pleased that her children had followed her example by serving others.

Ramona was a 24/7 nurse to Phil for 4 ½ years after his cancer diagnosis. Following his death, she moved her mother to Montrose from Florida and cared for her until her death, 10 years later at age 98. Ramona was a Montrose County resident for 69 years.

THE BAREFOOT LAUREATE: THE ELUSIVE ART OF PRAISE, GRACE AND PAYING ATTENTION

By Wendy Videlock

For today's column I thought I would share a few poems by Rosemerry Wahtola Trommer, who lives in Placerville, right here in Western Colorado.

When I first met Rosemerry some 25 years ago, little did I know she would become, one of my closest friends and a source of inspiration and revelation.

Because I was older and more seasoned in the publishing world, she thought of me as her teacher. It's funny how all these years later, those tables have turned and I think of her as my teacher.

I recall early on discovering that this young woman's remarkable strength as a poet and as a person seemed to lie in her vulnerability.

This seemed the ultimate paradox to me, having been raised to believe that strength was steely, impenetrable, deliberately defensive, intent on certainty, volume, bravado and generally accompanied by a stiff upper lip. Rosemerry has been a real lesson in unlearning those particular cultural conditionings. I used to think she possessed a unique willingness to remain entirely receptive to experience, sensation and feeling. But over time I've come to see these qualities aren't things Rosemerry possesses, but are rather seeds she plants in the soil, tends to with care, and cultivates in earnest.

It is the ongoing nature of learning, of seeking wisdom, of praising the simplicities and complexities of ordinary life that she so beautifully embodies. She swears by the practice of writing a poem a day in order to deepen her mindfulness practice.

Here she is with her poem, There is an Old Woman Inside Me:

There is an old woman inside me with long gray hair and fuzzy green eyes. She is soft in the way stones are soft when tumbled by waves for a hundred years.

She is still as I run from room to room content to listen to my bluster, to watch the day unfold. Her smile is gentle as dawn light as she hums a wordless tune. And as I make calls and check schedules, she curls in the lap of my busyness like an ash-colored cat, her body warm and relaxed. I love the old woman inside me, gnarled as the branches of an old peach tree. She is no stranger to how the world changes. Every day I practice to be more like her, slow as honey, quiet as moonlight, familiar as the woman in the mirror. Rosemerry's sensibility reminds us how remaining open to the ordinary moments of our lives is one of the greatest gift we give ourselves. Here she is noticing one such moment:

was a single drop of melted snow that clung to the tip of a tight red bud at the end of a naked branch. It didn't have to shout or sing to make me fall in love with the way afternoon light gathered inside it. Such a simple pulpit, such humble gospel, this radiant preacher, this silence in which the prayer is made of listening.

Years later, Rosemerry, who had now become an internationally known poet and beloved teacher in her own right — not just to myself but to thousands, continues to inspire me and continues to write a poem a day as a mindfulness and creative practice. I leave you with another lovely poem from Rosemerry, who even shifts a word like "ambition" into something new:

Western Slope Poet Laureate Wendy Videlock.

Ambition

I am so far from the woman I want to be, so far from humility and simplicity. I dream of clearing not only the shelves, not only the closets, but also the cluttered inner rooms that crowd out the divine. Every day I search for ways to best meet the day with poems, beautiful meals, with songs, with praiseso many ways to be radiant, but I suspect all the day wants is for me to meet it and all that comes into my path with kindness, with spaciousness. In my effort to be good, to be whole, I make it so difficult, this life. The day doesn't seem to hold my exuberance against me. It shows up as always, generous as a new tomorrow, quiet as dawn.

Wendy Videlock serves as poet laureate of the Western Slope. She teaches and advocates for the arts in public spaces. Reach her at westernslopeword@gmail.com

YOU CAN ALWAYS COUNT ON A GREAT MEAL AT APPLEBEES IN MONTROSE

By Carole Ann McKelvey

MONTROSE – Felt like getting a substantial meal, with a tasty margarita of course, so my son and I headed to Applebee's. In Montrose you can always count on a nice sizzling meal coming out of the Applebee's kitchen.

I decided to try the fiesta lime chicken, a chicken breast covered with sauce and cheese and served on a bed of tortilla strips with rice. And it was happy hour, so ordered the current featured margarita, yum! Not driving but they are large so only one. Delicious!

Ian ordered the chicken and shrimp dish with garlicky mashed potatoes. He devoured his; I had leftovers, so will have dinner for tonight!

So many choices here and the place was packed at 6:30 pm when we arrived. This meal was one of the twofer's dinners Applebees features which means we also received an appetizer of our choice – artichoke/cheese dip with tortilla chips and salsa. Also yum. We were both too full to order dessert although there are some great ones.

DRY CREEK FARMS CONSERVATION AGREEMENT PRESERVES UNCOMPANGRE VALLEY'S AGRICULTURAL LEGACY AND WATER

Special to the Mirror

OLATHE-Colorado West Land Trust is pleased to announce the successful conservation of Dry Creek Farms, a pivotal step in preserving the rich agricultural heritage and vital water resources of the Uncompany Valley. This conservation effort is in thanks to the Anderson family, fourth-generation Uncompany Valley farmers and owners of Dry Creek Farms, which encompasses 345 acres of fertile agricultural land and natural habitat. The agreement underscores the Anderson's commitment to sustainable land stewardship and CWLT's mission to safeguard critical lands and water for future generations. The Uncompany Valley holds a special place in Colorado's landscape, renowned for its fertile soils, diverse ecosystems, and stunning vistas. This region, historically rooted in agriculture, faces growing development pressures and decreasing water availability, making conservation efforts like this easement crucial for maintaining the area's rural heritage and water security.

"As I drive around the valley, I see subdivisions going in and houses. In fact, I am looking at one right now built right out in the middle of prime farmland," said landowner Steve Anderson, "Conservation is a win-win. It's a win for the individuals doing it monetarily and it's a win for the valley in the long run for conserving farmland and our way of life."

Preserving Agricultural Heritage and Water Resources

At the heart of the conservation easement are 250 acres of prime cropland, irrigated with water shares from the Uncompahgre Valley Waters Users Association, under agricultural operation since the 1900s. These fields, recognized as prime farmland and farmland of statewide importance, play a crucial role in sustaining local agriculture and food production. Crops including corn, beans, spelt, and hay are grown on a rotational basis and sheep graze the land in the winter months. The partnership between CWLT and Steve Anderson underscores a shared commitment to preserving the agricultural legacy of the Uncompanyre Valley while conserving water ensuring it will remain on the farm. Anderson expressed his love for the land, explaining that even after farming his whole life, he still looks forward to working in the fields. Safeguarding Wildlife Habitat Beyond its agricultural significance, Dry Creek Farms is a haven for wildlife, boasting diverse habitats that support a myriad of species. The property's semi-desert shrubland, scrubland, woodlands, and wet meadows provide critical food and shelter for game and nongame wildlife alike. Mule deer, a resident population on the property, find refuge in its winter and severe winter ranges, highlighting the importance of maintaining connectivity and habitat integrity in the face of habitat fragmentation.

Celebrating Scenic Beauty

The conservation easement on Dry Creek Farms not only protects vital resources but also celebrates the region's scenic beauty. The property's bucolic fields, visible from nearby public lands and county roads, offer a glimpse into the agricultural character that defines the Uncompahgre Valley. Preserving these scenic landscapes is not just an act of conservation but a testament to our collective responsibility to safeguard the intrinsic beauty of our rural environment.

"CWLT is committed to undertaking additional projects in the Uncompany Valley that protect the valley's agricultural land and water resources, as they are fundamental to the success of farming in this area. This ongoing effort acknowledges the necessity of maintaining a critical mass of protected lands to sustain viable farming operations within the region," said Nick Jacobson, Conservation Specialist with CWLT, "We express gratitude for the Anderson family's collaboration, a testament to our collective resolve to keep the Uncompahgre Valley productive for generations to come."

The establishment of the conservation easement on Dry Creek Farms comes at a critical juncture, amplifying the urgency of addressing farmland conversion and maintaining the integrity of rural landscapes. Water conservation is paramount in this effort, as it is vital for sustaining agricultural productivity and ecosystem health. Increasing development pressure on farmlands has underscored the need for collaborative conservation efforts, bringing public attention to the delicate balance between development and conservation in our communities. CWLT extends its heartfelt gratitude to Steve and Patricia Anderson for their vision, dedication, and collaboration towards land and water conservation in the Uncompany Valley.

MAYOR DESIGNATES 2024-2025 AS 'YEAR OF OUR CITIZENS'

Special to the Mirror

MONTROSE— To highlight the importance of the relationship between the citizens of Montrose and their local elected officials, Mayor J. David Reed has created the "You Make a Difference" award as part of a "Year of Our Citizens" campaign to celebrate the contributions of local residents to the Montrose community.

Throughout Reed's term as Mayor, residents will be recognized for their contributions to the community by receiving an award from the City Council.

To nominate someone for the "You Make a Difference" award, recognizing a Montrose resident or group of residents whose service to their community goes above and beyond, contact the City of Montrose City Clerk's office via email at cityclerk@ci.montrose.co.us or by phone at 970.240.1430.

Mayor Reed will then review the applications and once an award is announced, recipients will be notified and invited to attend a City Council meeting where the award will be officially bestowed.

"I am hopeful that this will become a time -honored tradition even after the "Year of Our Citizens" has come and gone," Reed said. "As your elected officials, we are merely one of you, entrusted for a short period of time to be caretakers of this gem that we all call home. We need your help to keep this gem shining brightly."

To make the most of his one-year term as Mayor, Reed has prioritized his efforts to increase transparency with the community as the City Council continues its work to improve transportation infrastructure, economic development, tourism, housing, and child care and promote a vibrant downtown. "In my opinion, every citizen needs to feel a part of this community because every citizen is an integral part of this community," Reed said. "Regardless of race, creed, color, national origin, or sexual preference, if you live here, work here, are raising your children here, or retired here, you are a part of the very fabric of this community and you and your opinions and input are important, wanted, and needed." Reed said the critical issues facing the Montrose community need to be addressed "proactively rather than reactively" in the best interests of all Montrose residents. "During the course of my term, I want to focus on our citizens and our citizens' relationship with their municipal government," Reed said. "I declare this to be the "Year of Our Citizens." Reed said he wants to determine areas where there are disconnects between the council and community and create new pathways to reconnect by enhancing communication between citizens and their city government and working together, in partnership, to address important issues. Reed said the City Council encourages all Montrose residents to participate in local government and provide the Council with constructive input and suggestions. "Healthy, constructive debates and listening sessions should be encouraged to gather as much public feedback as possible and work through the most challenging community issues," Reed said, adding "Even if our decision does not reflect the decision that you might have made if you were serving in our role.

"While I can't assure you that each and every suggestion will necessarily be implemented, I can assure that each resident will have the opportunity to have their voice heard," Reed said. Members of the City Council are, first and foremost, citizens of the Montrose community, elected to represent the entire city and all its residents. Reed said there can be times "when we will disagree on the proper course of action to address a particular problem. That has always been and that will always be. It's what makes our democracy great."
